November 15 FREE

On Saturday, November 15, locals, visitors and film lovers alike are invited to attend American Muslim Voices Film Festival for a daylong screening experience at IMAN (3376 Motor Avenue, Los Angeles, CA, 90034). As part of DCA's citywide LA/Islam Arts Initiative, free and open to the public, the festival explores narrative and documentary films made by and about American-born Muslims. Each film is followed by a community forum to foster dialogue about the films and engage perspectives on the American Muslim experience. Programs include shorts, documentary shorts, two feature length films, New Muslim Cool (2009) and Valley of the Saints (2010), a Q & A with New Muslim Cool director Jennifer Maytorena Taylor, and a panel discussion on American Muslims in Film. Films will screen at 12:30pm, 4pm, and 7:30pm with filmmaker discussions in between. The panel on American Muslims in Film will take place at 5:30pm.
